

Martin Rodriguez

Dr. Griffin

English 12

28 September 2012

Martin Rodriguez's Moment of Greatness

Martin Rodriguez is a great man that has become an influence and more successful than he ever expected. Martin was determined to retire around the age of thirty and become a millionaire. Who will be mentioned after we describe how he reached his moment of greatness. His extraordinary goals started in a small town called Central Islip located in NY. This is where he attended High School.

He learned a lot from the four years that he attended high school. Martin also met different friends and teachers that influenced him to push and work hard to achieve his goals.

Martin had a rough first three years of his new life that he began while in Central Islip High School, "WHERE ALL DREAMS COME TRUE," Martin sarcastically commented.

He began thinking about how important a high school diploma is in order to continue a good career after graduating. Martin said, "I will proceed in trying my hardest to graduate and to receive my high school diploma on June 25, 2013."

He enrolled himself in many sports which included volleyball, swimming and baseball. This of course had to be all varsity sports where he found himself in a great and anxious mood to push forward in receiving different trophies and maybe a scholarship to a great college. Martin received tremendous amounts of trophies and certificates for his great efforts. He also showed an outgoing companionship that he gave to his coaches and most importantly to his fellow teammates.

At the age of nineteen Martin Rodriguez graduated out of Central Islip Senior High School and earned a scholarship to Briarcliffe college where he went on to study Business administration. He also received a $3,500 grant to play baseball.

Martin said, "I'm impressed with my work ethic and surprised that I will become a millionaire at an early age than expected."

A couple of years passed and in his fourth year of college and he said, "I'm not stopping now and I won't give up." Martin graduated from Briarcliffe College and goes on with his career.

Martin is now twenty-three years old and he is living in his own house and is planned on starting a family with his loving girlfriend that he's been with for five years now.

"It's been a true and difficult five years, but in the end I still love her and she is what makes me wake up in the morning and keeps me moving on to and to do bigger and better things," said Martin with a bound and determined voice.

Two years later Martin and his girlfriend decided to get married on an air balloon over a tropical island in Brazil. At his wedding he mentions with proud and joyful tears coming from his eyes that "This is the greatest day of all, to share the rest of my life with such a beautiful and outstanding girl like the one I have." He went on with life and had a little baby girl, which Martin and his wife named after a Roman goddess.

Martin Rodriguez became an entrepreneur shortly after getting married. He now buys, sells, and constructs houses all over the world. Martin is hoping soon to become a millionaire because of his trade in selling houses, but he has doubts in his head that kept eating at his conscience. He doubts that he won't be able to do this by the age of thirty. Martin now becomes more aware of his job and strides to do better at what he knows best.

By the age of twenty-eight Martin and his family move to California into a luxurious mansion by Hollywood. Martin meets with a couple of movie stars to sell them mansions and also builds a couple of recreational court yards. He becomes famous by just living in the area and making great transactions with rich movie stars.

Martin Rodriguez birthday is coming soon and he will be turning the big three-zero. He has accomplished many goals in his inspiring thirty years of life.

"I'm very grateful with my progress so far, but I believe within myself that I can push myself harder to achieve my moment of greatness," said Martin with a cheerful voice.

Today is his great birthday that he has been waiting for since high school. Unfortunately his dream of becoming a millionaire has not come true.

"I've worked so hard for so long and I wasn't able to reach my goal," Martin said.

Martin's intelligence actually paid off in the long run. In the end Martin Rodriguez becomes a millionaire at the age of twenty-eight. His moment of greatness was surprisingly achieved at an earlier age than he had expected.

"I'm not surprised that I've reached my dream and long term goal due to the fact that I had and still have great support from my fellow teachers, classmates, my family and my amazing wife. Who stuck with me through thick and thin" says Martin.

Martin has now retired at the age of only thirty just like he planned in his high school career. He now owns his own company which is very successful and turns out to bringing a good income for the Rodriguez family. Martin now spends most of his time at home in California with his family and is traveling around the world.

Martin mentions, "Patience is a Virtue, and you can be whomever you want to set out to be and don't let anybody prevent you from your dream."